Exploratory Project, Collaboration With Programmer

View Project Dashboard

- Conceived and planned a stormwater detention study for a 4,000 m<sup>2</sup> parking lot; defined project goals and a comparison of 24 designs across nine synthetic storms (216 scenarios).
- Planned evaluation of storage/outlet sizing, peak flow, overflow, and drawdown, including 27 sensitivity cases; collaborated with a programmer on program execution.
- Study result: 150 m<sup>3</sup> storage and a 100 mm square outlet achieved modeled 63–74% peak-flow reduction, zero overflow, and drawdown within 7.9 hours across three 50 mm storm profiles.
